FIRE SPOTTER—A new infra-red scanning device capable of spotting budding brush and forest fires has been developed in Canada for use on fire-control aircraft. Here, technicians mount a scanner in its special fiberglass pod attached to a plane. In flight, the scanner continuously sweeps terrain below, sorting out differences in heat radiation. When it picks up a burning area no more than three feet across, a warning "beep-beep" and instrument panel lights alert the pilot.

Klansman's Death Looks Like Suicide

GRANITE QUARRY, N.C. (AP) — The Rowan County coroner said that the death of Grady B. Mars, retired military policeman linked with the Ku Klux Klan by a congressional investigator, may have been suicide.

Mars, 41, died of a gunshot wound in the head in his bedroom Saturday night.

Coroner Rufus Honeycutt quoted Mars' wife Jean, as saying her husband had been depressed since refusing to testify before the House Committee on Un-American Activities when it was investigating the Klan in October.

He said an official ruling on the cause of death will be made Tuesday "after we get certain reports back from the State Bureau of Investigation lab in Raleigh."

"I'm pretty sure it was suicide, but it won't be official until Tuesday," Honeycutt said.

Donald T. Appel, chief counsel for the House Committee on Un-American Activities, identified Mars in October as a district officer and organizer for the United Klans of America.

Mars pleaded the Fifth Amendment when asked about Klan activities at a Committee hearing.

J. Robert Jones, North Carolina grand dragon of the Klan, would not say what office Mars held—or even confirm that he belonged to the organization.

"You won't find out from me and you won't find out from any other member of the Klan,"

Dr. Miller said: "The fork and the chain, when rattled, vibrate at 34,000 cycles per second, in the uppermost range of a dog's hearing. It doesn't hurt his ears; it just interrupts anything the dog is thinking."

"If the dog is going to do something bad, it changes his mind."

"If you give the dog a command simultaneously with the clink of the chain, the command is impressed in the dog's thinking, and on his memory."

"By repeating the process, the dog can eventually be taught to respond to the owner's word alone, without the chain."

What's the most valuable thing in your billfold?

It may well be your Blue Cross and Blue Shield Membership Card. If accident or illness should send you to the hospital your Blue Cross and Blue Shield protection can be worth hundreds . . . maybe even thousands of dollars.

More than 64 million members now have Blue Cross benefits to protect them against the rising costs of hospital care. (The average per day cost of hospital care is now at an all time high of $40). And to help with the doctor bill, more than 57 million persons have Blue Shield.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield protect more persons than do the next 8 largest hospital and medical plans combined.

Is there a Blue Cross and Blue Shield Membership Card in your billfold?

Britain's First Pay Television Opens Jan. 7

LONDON (AP) — Britain's first pay-television system will begin operation Jan. 7 showing mainly feature films and sports events such as a prerecorded wrestling program from Chicago.

"An evening with the Royal Ballet," starring Margot Fonteyn and Rudolf Nureyev, also is scheduled.

Pay-television will start initially in the London boroughs of Westminster and Southwark with 2,000 to 3,000 subscribers. By late summer, Pay-TV, Ltd., hopes to have 10,000. Its chairman, Lord Brasbourne, said there is a sound basis for a pay-television system in Britain since it has the biggest television relay

New Method In Teaching Obedience

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A cat raced across the sidewalk in front of D'Ors Prince Ygor, Barbara Singleton's platinum-blond Russian wolfhound.

Ygor started to bolt after the cat, Miss Singleton, a pretty television model, clinked a chain in her hand and spoke: "Come, Ygor."

Ygor halted as if thunder-struck. "Heel!" said Miss Singleton. Ygor trotted obediently to her side and they walked on.

Ygor has never been to dog-training school. That's passe, these days, in the Beverly Hills-West Los Angeles environment of culturally enriched dogs. The secret of his instant obedience?

Like 300 other elite canines, Ygor has had psychotherapy. He was a patient of Dr. Dare Miller, who describes himself as Los Angeles' only dog psychologist.

"He is really so much better since he has had help," said Miss Singleton.

Dr. Miller treats dogs the way movie villains sometimes deal with captured counterspies; he brainwashes them, then shapes their will with conditioned response.

"In five minutes," said Dr. Miller, 38, "I can teach a strange dog to come to me on command."

Miller's methods differ from those of traditional dog trainers in their psychological approach: no punishment, no negative commands, and a conditioning technique on which he holds a copyright.

A chain — the sort Barbara Singleton clinked to halt her bolting Borzoi — does the trick.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I know you are not a psychiatrist but you seem to have a lot of answers. Can you please tell me what is wrong with people who destroy property?

I am a junior in high school. All around me I see so much destruction in our school that I am dumbfounded. Last year money was raised to buy a new curtain for the stage in the auditorium. It cost almost $1,000. A few weeks ago somebody deliberately cut holes in the new curtain. I was sick when I saw it.

Yesterday the teacher announced that a typewriter had been knocked off a desk and that it could never be fixed. Kids take seats apart in the auditorium and throw away the nuts and bolts.

Why are people like this?—DIZZGUZZTED.

Dear Dizz: People who get satisfaction out of destroying property are angry—at their parents, their teachers, the world and themselves. They are frustrated and unhappy. They feel they cannot create anything so they have an urge to destroy what others have created.

The only solution is to find constructive outlets for these rebellious and unhappy ones. And re-training destructive people to re-channel their energies is far from easy.

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is to the heartbroken mother who gave birth to a mongoloid child. I wish someone had written me the kind of letter I am about to write. When our mongoloid child was born we felt that God had singled us out for some terrible punishment. We were ashamed and sick at heart. My mother wept for days. My sister begged us to put the child tional children do better at home.

When I am asked what to do I always suggest that the physicians guide the parents.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a divorced woman who is dating an attractive man who is also divorced. We are both big on marathon swimming and tennis. We met last year at a tennis tournament.

The problem is that this guy drinks like a fish. He can hold an awful lot of liquor before he shows signs of being crooked, but when he gets behind the wheel of a car I am scared out of my wits. I hate to insult the guy by telling him I want to drive, but I'm afraid one of these days he'll take us both off the Golden Gate bridge.

Is there a tactful way to get the point across?—I LOVE LIFE.

Dear Love: You may have to decide whether you want to be a tactful corpse or a blunt (but alive) woman.

If this guy drinks like a fish tell him you will swim with him but you won't ride with him. If he refuses to let you drive on the nights you decide he has had too much, then take a taxi—across the Golden Gate bridge, yet.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Heartening, Reassuring TV Program

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — At a time when men are fighting, when international bullies are abroad in the world and when self-doubt is endemic, ABC came up with a heartening and reassuring television program. "In Search of Man" Monday night was an hour's tribute to the good guys, to men of good will, the builders, the creators and the believers.

True, it was a pretty large assignment for only 60 minutes and sometimes it seemed the show was racing to get everything in as we were zipped from prehistoric cave drawings to men walking in space.

The narration by Van Heflin was skillfully written but with a slight tendency to get high-flown. But it was an hour of tranquility and good feeling. As the program insisted, mankind may have its faults, but we're not all bad.

NBC's Huntley-Brinkley news show Monday night produced a startling film shot in a Viet Nam field hospital while a badly wounded Marine colonel was being given first aid and, between gasps of pain, described the action in which he had been hurt.

The network censors wisely permitted the colonel's strong language to remain on the sound track. It vividly illustrated the dreadful aspects of that faraway war, further underlined when Chet Huntley said the colonel's leg had been amputated.

On the warm and happy side was Andy Williams' Christmas program, also on NBC. For the fourth year, Williams was joined by his three brothers for a song session, and at the end by the whole Williams family including the star's parents.

Peace Corps Group Found; All Are Safe

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Eight Peace Corps trainees lost in the Manzano Mountains of central New Mexico came through because "these are bright and resourceful people."

That was the way the four men and four women were described by Dr. David Benedetti, head of the Peace Corps Center at the University of New Mexico.

The were found Monday after five days in rain and snow and subfreezing temperatures — at one time down to 15 degrees.

Dr. Benedetti sent them back to class today. They are in their ninth week of training to be volunteers in Chile.

"There are no exceptions made," said Jane Whitmore, 25, of Manhasset, N.Y., one of the lost trainees.

The eight trainees, between the ages of 21 and 28, kept their spirits high — even though they were lost almost from the beginning of a hike across rough mountain terrain nearly 9,000 feet high.

They ran out of food Monday morning, finishing up a breakfast of dehydrated ham and eggs. It was 12 hours until their next meal, hamburgers and hot coffee at Albuquerque.

An organized search was started Sunday after they failed to arrive at their destination on the fourth day, but the hunt was almost entirely on the opposite side of the Manzano Mountains.

The trainees were Mike Mitchell, 21, Bronx, N.Y.; Tom Jacobs, 23, Columbus, Ohio; Bruce McCracken, 25, Wellesley Hills, Mass.; Lindsay West, 28, Hurst, Tex.; Judy Johnson, 21, Pleasantville, N.Y.; Sue Selbin, 22, St. Paul, Minn.; Bill Pastreich, 24, New York, and Miss Whitmore.

The group walked to a locked ranch house on the west side of the Manzanos Monday, near from where they started.

They waited outside for help, hungrily eyeing some turkeys in the farmyard, McCracken said.

After three hours, a ground unit of the search party passed by and carried them to Albuquerque where they resume their Peace Corps training today.

Children Orphaned

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Five children were orphaned Monday when their mother died in St. Louis County Hospital from injuries suffered in an auto accident that killed their father.

The couple was Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Griffin of Arnold, Mo. He was an Airman First Class.

Their car and another auto collided Thursday on U.S. Highway 61-67 in south St. Louis County.

FROM TOP DOWN — They started at the top in constructing a new building in Hamburg, West Germany — the 15-story Finland House. When they get down as far as the up-to-date cellar, the space will be shared by a garage and a bomb shelter.

Stepmother Shot In Back For Spanking

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — A 12-year-old boy told police he shot his stepmother in the back Monday because she spanked him for smoking cigarettes at their home at Lake Tapawingo.

Mrs. Jacqueline Mayfield, 44, wounded near the right shoulder was taken to the Independence hospital. Her condition was fair.

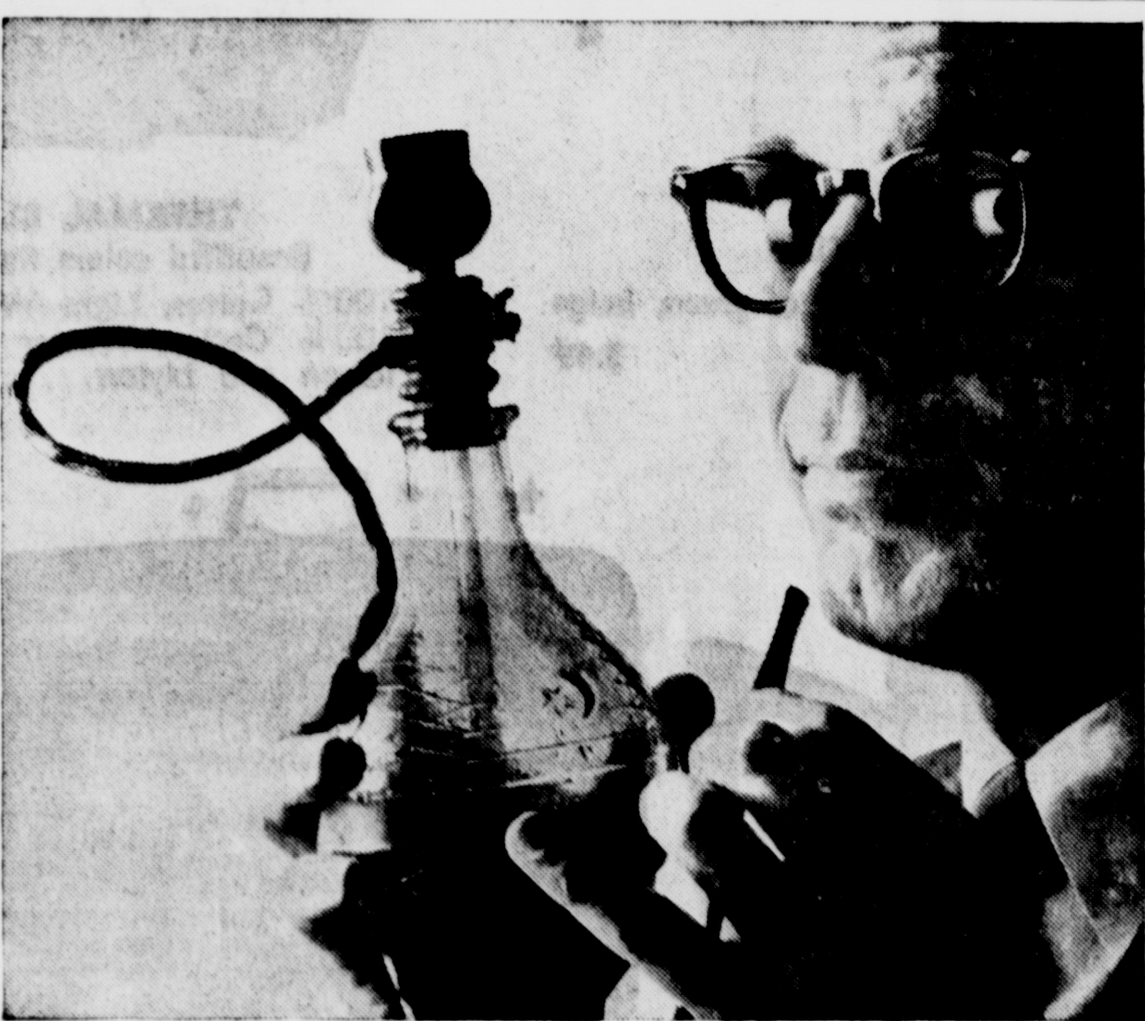

The boy told sheriff's officers he kept cigarettes in the boat-house, where Mrs. Mayfield caught him smoking.

He was quoted as saying he took a two-shot 22-caliber deringer from his father's dresser and shot his stepmother when she entered his bedroom.

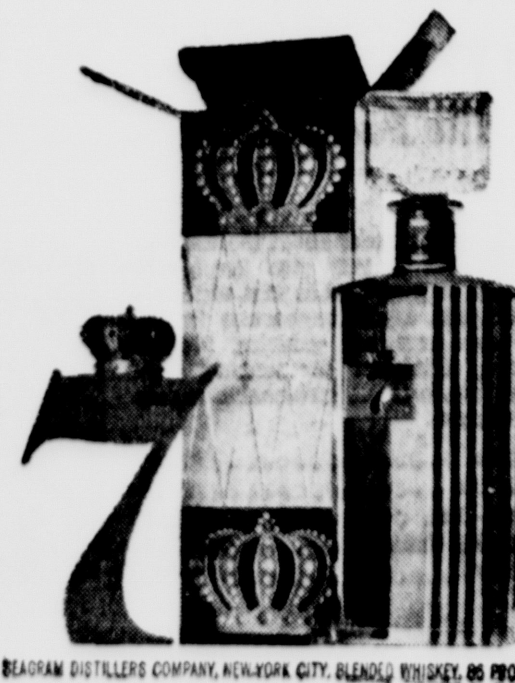

"He told me he had been planning to kill his stepmother for three months," said Lt. James R. Browning, chief of county detectives.

After the shooting, the boy went outside and sat on the front steps. Mrs. Mayfield got help by calling to a passerby. The boy was taken to the county parental school.

Officers were trying to locate his father, Kenneth Mayfield, who is in Washington on business, Lt. Browning said.

A Youthful Appearance In AFL-CIO

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The AFL-CIO, its aging top leadership about to take on a more youthful appearance, pledged today to renew its fight to win a better life for "all the little people of America."

"They have no one else to represent them," said 71-year-old George Meany, unanimously elected to a new two-year term as president of the giant labor federation and voted a $25,000 salary boost to $70,000 a year. He is the only president the federation has had in its 10-year history.

There were a few "no" votes from the floor Monday on Meany's pay raise.

The nearly 1,000 delegates to the 10th anniversary convention vote today on a virtually unopposed slate of candidates that will chip about two years off the 64-year average age of the federation's powerful executive council.

Patrick Gorman, secretary-treasurer of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters Union, is the only maverick opposing a Meany-backed slate to replace eight retiring federation vice presidents on the council.

Gorman, 72, was given virtually no chance of election.

"The American trade union movement is the conscience of America," said Meany in a speech accepting his new term of office and voicing the federation's aims.

"We can look around with some satisfaction at the record of the trade union movement," Meany said. "We see good contracts, we see good wages."

But, he added, "We have a great deal of work to do for all the little people of America. There are still too many people in America who are not sharing in the prosperity of this great nation. There are too many people who are suffering from poverty, the lack of education and disease."

The convention passed resolutions Monday recommending $10 billion more in federal funds for education, pledging to help wipe out discrimination in all areas of American life and to work politically in the 1966 elections to reelect labor's friends in Congress.

A resolution to invite James R. Hoffa's Teamsters Union, Harry Bridges International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the United Mineworkers and all other unaffiliated unions into the AFL-CIO was pigeonholed without a murmur of dissent.

Gemini At-a-Glance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Mission Status: Gemini 7, drifting to conserve fuel it will need to meet Gemini 6 and maneuver for the first time in space, completes two-thirds of its 14-day mission.

Latest Achievement: In 10th day of circling earth, astronauts Borman and Lovell top previous total orbit time individual record of astronaut L. Gordon Cooper — 225 hours and 16 minutes — and add steadily to their new mark.

Problems: None of consequence. Opening of an oxygen valve appears to have cured a lazy fuel-cell unit. Tape recorder storing data for post-flight analysis stops working.

New Issues In Probe Of Interest Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The problem of how to control a speeding economy in wartime has emerged as a key issue in a congressional probe of the Federal Reserve Board's decision to raise interest rates.

The Senate-House Economic Committee resumes the inquiry today after getting into a discussion of possible other weapons against inflation. Board members have cited the danger of inflation as a major reason for the board's action raising the discount rate, the basic element in determining interest rates on money lent by the Federal Reserve to banks, from 4 to 4½ per cent.

Some of these other anti-inflation weapons, mentioned Monday in day-long questioning of the board's chairman, William McChesney Martin Jr., and four of the other six board members, were controls on consumer time payments or tightening reserve requirements on certain kinds of high-interest bank deposits.

The committee had planned to take today off but Martin was asked to return when the committee finished Monday's lengthy session with several members still waiting to ask more questions.

He refused to say whether the board has any further actions in mind that would affect interest rates, arguing that he can never make predictions without setting off disturbances in the money market.

Committee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., told Martin he has only one remedy for financial disturbances — higher interest. Martin retorted that Patman has only one answer — lower interest.

Czech Reds Search For New Market

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist regime is scouting Western Europe in search of new markets and supplies as it enters a new era of profit-making and economic decentralization.

The Prague government also is seeking to stem a wave of panic buying touched off by rumors that under the economic reform plan prices of such basic foods as sugar, flour and potatoes are earmarked for sharp increases and that the currency will be devalued.

Called the "New Economic Model," the scheme has been propagated for two years by the Communist party as a long-overdue remedy for faulty planning, lack of consumer goods, and poor quality of export products which even the Soviet Union and other European Communist countries have refused to buy.

The plan virtually abolishes two traditional maxims of Communist ideology — rigid government control over the economic process from top to bottom, and government-subsidized prices in certain key sectors.

Many Communist officials have long opposed these methods as unrealistic leftovers from Stalinist times. Many others are reluctant to see them disappear.

Like neighboring East Germany and Hungary, the Czechoslovak regime has decided to pay attention to quality rather than emphasize quantitative output as the yardstick of economic development.

But, as the January deadline for the reforms draws near, the problem of how to make things better remains.

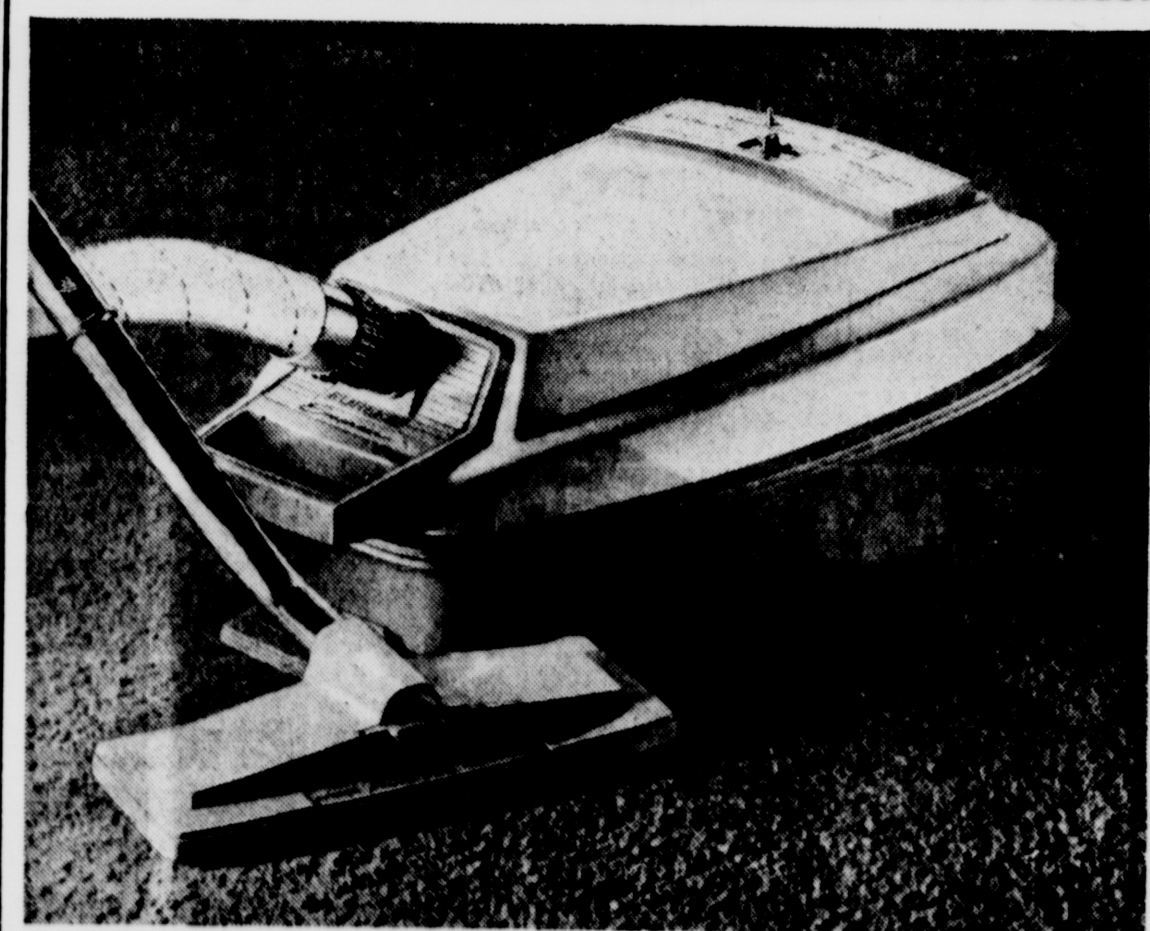

The reform scheme, to be launched parallel with a new five-year economic development plan, calls for rapid expansion of foreign trade with the West. It now comprises only 15 per cent of the annual total.

To explore Western markets, the government has sent a high-level mission led by Deputy Premier Otakar Simunek to Austria, a country which this year registered a remarkable increase in trade with its Communist neighbor. Exports rose 30 per cent to $29 million in the first 10 months. Imports gained 42 per cent, totaling $9 million.

Austrian officials said the visitors do not conceal their eagerness to scoop up as many contracts as possible.

"They are anxious to buy Western products and Western knowhow," an official said.

Business and Professional Women's Club. Sponsor representatives attending were Mrs. Stewart Karrer, Mrs. T. E. Gasperson and Mrs. James Callis.

OYW winner for 1965 will be announced at the January Distinguished Service Awards banquet of Sedalia Jaycees.

Honorary membership was bestowed on Carolyn Birdsong. Attending were two prospective members, Sharon Winegar and Jane Hudson.

Emma Curry directed the program, consisting of display of Christmas decorations, brought by members.

Janis McWhirt was elected secretary, replacing Janet Monsees.

The group received a second rating at state board meeting at Excelsior Springs, for participation in Jaycees chicken barbeque. The organization also received a plaque for "Outstanding Club" for the third year in succession.

Chris Fischer and Kay Gunter were given farewell gifts.

Joy Phillips reported on the Mental Health and Retardation seminar, which she and Shirley Hawkins attend recently in Columbia. Reports were given on the Excelsior Spring board meeting.

A Thanksgiving basket was given.

Wives will sing Christmas family carols to shut-ins Dec. 21.

Plead Innocent Of Transporting Money Orders

CHICAGO (AP) — Five men pleaded innocent Monday in U.S. District Court to charges of transporting stolen money orders in interstate traffic.

The five are accused of transporting the $64,000 in money orders to Missouri and New York through a network of other persons. The total obtained by the alleged plot was not revealed.

They are accused of conspiring to take American Express money orders stolen from a suburban Melrose Park supermarket in 1961 across state lines.

The defendants are Robert J. McDonnell, 40, of suburban River Forest, a lawyer; Americo De Pietto, 49, who is serving an 11-year term in the Leavenworth, Kan., penitentiary for the sale of narcotics; Ernest (Rocky) Infelice, 45, of Melrose Park; James (Cowboy) Mirro, 51, of Chicago; and Frank Santucci, 40, of Calumet City.

All except De Pietto were released on bonds ranging from $3,000 to $4,500.

No Names In Rejecting Extremists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie says Republican chieftains were talking about the John Birch Society when they rejected extremist organizations — but named no names.

Smylie spoke out after a Birch Society leader praised Monday's resolution in which the Republican Coordinating Committee said party members should "reject membership in any radical or extremist organization."

The GOP policymaking council also urged President Johnson to set up around North Viet Nam the kind of naval quarantine President John F. Kennedy once used against Cuba.

The committee recommended "maximum use of American conventional air and sea power against significant military targets" in the Communist North.

"Under our present policy in Viet Nam the kind of naval quarantine President John F. Kennedy once used against Cuba."

"Since it appears that the major portion of North Vietnamese military supplies arrive by sea," it added, "our first objective should be to impose a Kennedy-type quarantine on North Viet Nam."

Republican resolutions on extremism and Viet Nam were unanimously adopted Monday at a day-long committee session.

John Rousselot, the Birch Society public relations man, said the coordinating committee acted wisely in dealing with the question of extremism.

"We're pleased they have taken this stand," he said.

"Who is Rousselot?" asked Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

"If John Rousselot endorsed this statement," House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford said, "I have grave doubts that he fully understood the import of it."

Smylie put it this way in an interview:

"To us, the resolution that was adopted means the John Birch Society is an extreme and radical organization."

Smylie said he told the committee its five governor-members interpreted the resolution that way. He said no one at the closed-door committee session objected to that reading.

"We had the Birch Society in mind," said Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky.

May Delay Launch Of Sun-Orbiting Craft

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A sun-orbiting satellite will be launched on schedule early Wednesday only if the Gemini 6 launching is postponed, the space agency says.

G. Merritt Preston, deputy director of launch operations for the Kennedy Space Center, said tracking stations along the Air Force eastern test range would not be able to support both launches in such a short period.

The Pioneer 6 satellite tentatively is scheduled to blast off between 1:45 and 2:15 a.m. (EST) to study characteristics of the sun, the region between the sun's atmosphere and interstellar space and magnetic fields.

Wedding No Secret

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (AP) — Joe Pantano and Helen Hench said they had planned to keep their wedding a secret for a while. But it just didn't work out that way.

It seems they were the 6,000th couple to obtain a marriage license this year in Coeur d'Alene, and the north Idaho community rolled out the red carpet for the Renton, Wash., pair Monday.

The Pantanos got a free blood test, their marriage license was paid for, flowers were provided, and there was a free tank of gasoline, lodging for the night and even a wedding cake.

Rollins-Berlin Vows Exchanged

Miss Margaret A. Rollins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron B. Rollins, of 15 Elm St., Goffstown, became the bride of S-Sgt. Franz Berlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Berlin, Sedalia, at the chapel at Villa Augustina. Rev. Lacasse officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a full length gown of white lace over taffeta. Her elbow length veil was attached to a crown. She carried a bouquet of white mums centered with a white orchid.

Miss Kathleen MacDonald, cousin of the bride was maid of honor and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink, blue and white.

Best man was Leo McGee from Sterling, Colo. Byron Rollins, Jr., was usher. Miss Ann MacDonald, cousin of the bride presented the guest book. A reception was held at St. Lawrence Hall which was attended by 60 guests.

When Mr. and Mrs. Berlin left for a trip to Niagara Falls and Sedalia, the bride wore a black and blue knit suit.

Mrs. Berlin was graduated from Goffstown High and Hesser Business College and was employed at McKay's.

Mr. Berlin went to Maur Hill High School in Atchison, Kan., and was stationed at Fort Devens, Mass.

Cold Storage For Nuclear Force Plans

PARIS (AP) — Ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization put proposals for West German participation in nuclear defense in cold storage as they met today for their annual policy review.

Diplomatic sources said the controversial projects were shelved for the time being to keep alive the prospect of reaching an agreement some day with the Soviet Union to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

The sources said the West Germans themselves were anxious to delay the nuclear question long enough to determine what the Russians were willing to give to get NATO to drop proposals for an integrated nuclear force.

Informants said the Soviet Union, the United States and Britain realize they would all gain from a treaty halting the spread of nuclear arms to countries which do not possess them.

The Russians say there can be no such treaty unless the Western powers drop the American proposal for a multilateral nuclear force — MLF — of surface ships or the related and broader British idea of an Atlantic nuclear force — ANF.

Western diplomats said if MLF and ANF are abandoned the Russians should give something in exchange: for example, new guarantees to protect the Western access routes to West Berlin, new negotiations looking toward the reunification of East and West Germany, or cooperation in efforts to obtain a cease-fire and peace negotiations for Viet Nam.

Discussing nuclear problems at a news conference Monday night, Canadian Foreign Minister Paul Martin said: "I do not expect any spectacular initiatives will be taken — for that matter any initiatives at all. The stage is now set for important decisions, but the situation is not right for a final decision at this meeting for obvious reasons."

NATO Secretary-General Manlio Brosio told newsmen the object of the meeting "is not to take decisions" but to exchange views.

After a preliminary round of consultations, U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk planned to explain American policy in South

Memphis Hotel On Auction Block

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Hotel Peabody, a Memphis landmark for 96 years, was to go on the auction block today to the strains of Dixieland jazz.

A price of at least $2.3 million was expected to satisfy mortgage and tax claims against the hotel, owned since 1953 by the Alcon Corp., of Chicago, owner of the Alsonett hotel chain.

A Dixieland band was on hand for the auction on the courthouse steps at noon.

Rho Taus to Ring Tree of Lights Bell

Rho Tau Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority, met in December at Old Missouri Home-stead and voted to ring bells for Salvation Army Tree of Lights one evening during the season.

Not Aware Of 'Ice Ball' Illnesses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service says it is not aware of any illness that has resulted from use of water-filled "ice balls" imported from Hong Kong which it says contain potentially harmful bacteria.

As of now, it said in a statement Monday night, action toward banning sale or seeking withdrawal from the market of the plastic novelties used to cool drinks is up to states or localities.

Such action has been taken in the District of Columbia and several states, including Maryland, Nevada, Washington, Indiana and Pennsylvania. Some cities took similar action.

Analyses by State Health Departments in Wisconsin and Arkansas turned up the bacteria — staphylococcus aureus and pseudomonas species — in the water inside the ice balls, the Health Service said.

It added that all PHS regional offices and State Health Departments and district offices of the Food and Drug Administration had been alerted to the situation.

In Indianapolis, the Indiana State Board of Health warned health departments to look out for water-filled teething rings which it said may be more dangerous than the ice balls.

US Needs 'National Leaders'

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner says the United States desperately needs national leaders but isn't doing anything to produce them.

In fact, he says, there is an "antileadership vaccine" being used to immunize "a high proportion of our most gifted young people against any tendencies to leadership."

In an essay written while he was still president of the Carnegie Corp. of New York and published Monday, Gardner said:

"The academic world appears to be approaching a point at which everyone will want to educate the technical expert who advises the leader, or the intellectual who stands off and criticizes the leader, but no one will want to educate the leader himself."

Elaborating on this in an interview today, Gardner said, "The colleges and universities ought to honor what they say in their catalogs and from the commencement platforms."

"They say they are training leaders, but they are only paying lip service to the idea. If they lived by what they say, I'd be satisfied."

"Every professional field ought to assure that some small fraction of their best men would move toward positions of leadership, and be encouraged to do so. But this doesn't happen."

"College faculties, for instance, are traditionally critical of college presidents, but they do nothing to encourage their best young people to aspire to administrative positions of leadership."

In his essay, Gardner said that contrary to the popular notion, there is no "power elite" or "establishment" making the big national decisions. Instead, he said, national leadership is fragmented into many fields.

In the interview, Gardner said he did not think there should be a "national establishment."

His scare up to death," said Frank E. Fisher, director of the board's Food and Drug Division. "A baby a few months old has no immunity to such things as typhoid fever, against which many adults have been inoculated."

Fisher said laboratory tests to determine whether the teething rings contain dangerous organisms would be completed later today or Wednesday.

Heat Goes Back On In Dawson Creek

DAWSON CREEK, B.C. (AP) — The heat was on today in Dawson Creek and nearby Pouce Coupe. And the 16,500 residents of the two northeastern British Columbia communities figured it was about time.

For more than 24 hours, some of the time in near-zero weather, they had been without fire in their furnaces because of a break in a natural-gas pipeline. Schools and most businesses were shut down and residents bundled up and clustered around electric heaters.

Late Monday night, after two earlier efforts ended in cave-ins, crews of Westcoast Transmission succeeded in digging 30 feet down to cap the pipe near the break 14 miles north of here.

British automotive sportsman R. R. C. Walker knows cars, but one thing he didn't know was how quiet the '66 Ford is.

"1966 Ford quieter than my Jaguar? Not jolly likely!" said Rob Walker

... then he drove the Ford.

Ford's Quiet Man, who recently demonstrated the 1966 Ford to owners of some of the world's most expensive cars, here discusses the '66 Ford LTD with Rob Walker at his family's estate in Wiltshire, England.

"Astonishing... I believe this Ford of yours really is quieter!" exclaimed Rob Walker, famed British automotive sportsman.

Ford's quiet ride is the result of built-in quality and overall engineering excellence. Other examples of this engineering magic from Ford are: ■ New Stereo Tape Player option with easy-loading cartridges. ■ New Magic Doorgate on wagons—swings out like a door for people and down like a tailgate for cargo. ■ Silent-Flo Ventilation, standard on Ford 4-door hardtops, gives open-window freshness with all windows closed. ■ Quiet-test a '66 Ford, at your Ford Dealer's.

Promotions Planned By Association

Promotions for January, February and March were discussed at the quarterly breakfast meeting of the Sedalia Downtown Association Tuesday morning at Bothwell Hotel.

Presiding at the meeting was James Askren, president, who introduced William Hall, Sedalia industrial director.

Floyd Priddy, chairman of the quarter, January, February and March, asked Mrs. Bernice McGee, chairman of the annual 4-H leaders luncheon, to tell of her plans for that event in January.

Mrs. McGee stated that tentative plans were to have the luncheon honoring 4-H leaders on Wednesday, Jan. 26, at the First Methodist Church, at 12 noon.

Dick Chestnut, co-chairman with Bob Johnson, for February, outlined promotions for that month stating his committee felt that a one day promotion for George Washington's Day was better than two. Then there will be the natural promotion of Valentine's Day and also in February comes Boy Scout Week.

Virgil Dean, chairman for March, stated that this is a good promotion month and that his committee is working on a promotion to be announced later.

Askren told of the meeting with the Thompson Hills Shopping Center Assn. and the State Fair Shopping Center Assn. on tabloid publications with only one considered for January, two for February and two for March.

Damon Hieronymus pointed out that the tabloid had proved to be a terrific medium and that he proposed the association notify shopping centers that it will cooperate with tabloid plans. Most of the merchants agreed but Virgil Dean felt that one tabloid a month was all his budget would allow.

A number of the stores, however, were interested in two tabloids a month. The tabloid is a "half size" newspaper published by the Democrat-Capital.

Askren asked about the 13 weeks of Sunday downtown page advertising and most of the stores were also in favor of this. He then presented the idea for a Sedalia page in the Land 'O Lakes brochure in cooperation with the shopping centers, and this, too, was agreed upon, since it is something that is distributed all over the country.

Philip McLaughlin, treasurer, reported a membership of 40 in the downtown association and $2,000 in the treasury at the present time.

The Santa Claus operation was reported as a tremendous success.

Hieronymus asked that an effort to obtain the sign on top of the building at Fifth and Ohio be made for the promotion of downtown Sedalia until the owner was able to rent it for some other advertising.

Askren stated that he had already looked into this.

Mrs. Vivian Warren asked if the association would rather have the billings start in January instead of September because of the confusion over it and it was voted to change the date to January.

The committee for the quarter, January, February and March is composed of Floyd Priddy, chairman, Dick Chestnut, co-chairman; Robert Johnson, P. J. Hedderich, Virgil Dean, James Askren, Martin Goodrich, Bernice McGee, Al Zurcher, George Moyer, Victor Scott and John C. McLaughlin.

Simulated Space Trip Successful

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — While Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. orbited toward a record of 14 days in space, four Air Force officers Monday ended a 68-day simulated space trip testing helium for possible future space cabin use.

Each of the four was decorated with the Air Force commendation medal as he emerged smilingly from a space chamber at his School of Aerospace Medicine, Brooks Air Force Base.

The men entered the cylindrical space chamber Oct. 4, and Oct. 13 "went up" from the familiar atmosphere of about 20 per cent oxygen and 80 per cent nitrogen to an atmosphere of 70 per cent oxygen and 30 per cent helium at about a third sea-level pressure.

Circuit Court

Eddie Lee Hontz, 17, Route 2, Knob Noster, charged here with burglary, was placed on probation during good behavior Tuesday morning in Circuit Court after Judge Frank Hayes granted his application for parole.

Hontz was one of three young Johnson County men who pleaded guilty here Oct. 21 to charges of second degree burglary in connection with a break-in the night of Sept. 20 at Central Tractor Parts, 1620 West Main.

His brother, Donald W. Hontz, 18, and Larry Lee Allen, 23, Route 1, Knob Noster, received three-year and two-year sentences in court respectively.

Eddie was also sentenced to two years in custody of the State Department of Corrections, but the sentence was suspending pending a parole investigation.

The Pettis County Sheriff's Department reported the three youths had implicated themselves in a string of burglaries in this area during September, although they were charged specifically with entering the Sedalia tractor supply firm.

The damage petition of Lonnie I. Norton against David W. Watt was dismissed in Circuit Court Tuesday with prejudice to the plaintiff and at cost of the defendant.

Clyde Vernon Prall was granted a divorce from Ethel Prall in Circuit Court Tuesday. William F. Brown was his attorney.

Geraldine Fletcher was granted a divorce from Elmo Fletcher in Circuit Court Tuesday. William F. Brown was her attorney.

Accidents

A rural Sedalian and his wife were released after treatment at Bothwell Hospital for injuries they received when their auto struck the Old Covered Bridge on the Ingram Avenue Road 1 1/2 miles south of Sedalia at 7:50 a. m. Tuesday.

The State Highway Patrol reported Aloisius F. Meives, 38, Route 1, was traveling north in a 1962 Chevrolet Corvair when the compact auto went out of control on the bridge floor, spun crossways and struck the bridge.

Meives sustained an abrasion on his forehead, the patrol said. His wife, Barbara, 35, suffered a possible fracture to the right wrist, forehead laceration and an injury to the left hand. They were treated by Dr. D. K. Kirby.

Some damage resulted to the bridge, but it was not extensive. A Parks station wrecker towed the Meives auto to Sedalia.

Police reported damage to one car involved in a minor two-car mishap on the city parking lot at Main and Osage at 10:22 a. m. Tuesday.

A 1965 Cadillac, driven by John S. Collins, 66, 315 West Fifth, was backing east from its parking space, police reported, when a parked 1965 Ford rolled out and struck the left rear side of the Cadillac. The driver of the Ford, Joseph A. Day, 54, Pilot Grove, told police the brake on the car must not have been on tight.

No damage was listed to the Ford.

Three persons were injured in a two-car accident at Emmet and Walnut at 3:08 p. m. Monday, however, none of the injured required hospitalization.

The accident occurred when a 1962 Ford, driven by Alice L. Hayworth, 45, Route 5, collided with a 1966 Chevrolet, driven by Ruby Ellen Horn, 23, 1305 East Boonville.

Mrs. Hayworth complained of head and nose injuries and was taken to Dr. D. R. Edwards' office for treatment. Mrs. Horn and her son, Leroy Horn, were taken home by investigating officer, Jim Lawson. The Horns' injuries were not serious.

Damage was to the front of the Ford and to the right front of the Chevrolet.

The drive around Griff's Burger Bar was the scene of a minor two-car accident at 3:33 p. m. Monday.

Involved were a 1966 Chevrolet pickup, owned by Ervin G. Kaden, Route 3, Cole Camp, and a 1966 Chevrolet, driven by Luella E. Eicholz, 54, 2300 First Street Terrace.

The left rear fender of the pickup was damaged while the car escaped damage.

Sedalia Man In Rescue In Atlantic

A Navy man from Sedalia was a crew member of a plane which directed ship rescue operations Friday when a Navy patrol plane ditched in the Atlantic 25 miles off-shore near Brunswick, Me. resulting in the death of the co-pilot.

The Sedalian was ADI Donald W. Schumaker, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Schumaker, 1905 South Sneed.

Mr. and Mrs. Schumaker learned of the participation of their son's plane in the rescue when he telephoned to reassure them his aircraft was not involved in the crash. Schumaker, a veteran of 14 years in the Navy, is a jet mechanic and a crew captain. He is stationed at Brunswick, Me.

The pilot of the stricken aircraft notified Brunswick Naval Air Station, home base of the plane, that he was ditching, but gave no reason. That word set off a widespread air and surface rescue effort and Schumaker's plane was among the earliest to arrive, reaching the scene in three minutes.

Five others aboard the ditched plane, including the pilot, were rescued without serious injury.

said: "Money is the whole thing." He estimated the bill would cost several hundred million dollars in the first year.

Like the previous bills which helped millions of World War II veterans go to college and buy homes, the new bill would pay college or vocational school expenses and guarantee loans for purchase of homes, farms and farm equipment for veterans with more than 180 days' active service since Jan. 31, 1955, when the Korean GI bill expired.

Maximum education payments would be $160 a month for a veteran with two or more dependents for up to 36 months. Maximum guarantees of home purchase loans would be $7,500 for commercial loans and $15,000 for direct government loans where private financing is not available.

The Senate bill, sponsored by Teague's fellow Texas Democrat, Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, sets a July 1, 1967, cutoff for eligible servicemen. But Teague said this date represents an effort to hold down the cost of the bill.

"I want a bill that would last from now on," he said. The Korean GI bill, which he sponsored, extended to the 1955 expiration date the benefits originally granted after World War II.

Teague said he expected the final version of the bill to be similar to the Senate and Korean GI bills.

his foreign minister, Z. A. Bhutto, considered an advocate of closer Pakistani ties with Communist China and stronger moves against India.

Ayub, who has labeled his mission here a "quest for peace," told the U.N. General Assembly Monday that Pakistan was willing to sign a no-war pledge with India, if India agreed to self-determination for the people of Kashmir. The two nations have been feuding over rival claims to the border province for years.

With little prospect of an early solution to the Kashmir problem, official sources here said they did not see much likelihood of any immediate U.S. response to Ayub's request for resumption of American economic and military aid.

Since 1954, the United States has supplied $1 billion in military aid and $3.2 billion in economic assistance to Pakistan. The 22-day border war between India and Pakistan in September brought a freeze on U.S. military assistance to both countries.

U.S. officials see little chance of resuming aid while the chance remains that fighting may break out again.

Major Welfare Programs Dip During Month

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — All three major Missouri welfare programs declined slightly in November, Welfare Director Proctor N. Carter reported to day.

The number getting an old age assistance dropped 234 to 99,937 — the first time it has fallen below 100,000 in many years. Their grants totaled $6,463,462, down $10,201, and the average check was $64.68, an increase of 26 cents.

Families getting aid to dependent children declined by 120 to 25,813. Their payments totaled $2,529,357, down $16,673, and the average family check was $97.99, down 19 cents.

Permanent and total disability grants went to 15,511, a decrease of nine, and their payments totaled $1,056,493, an increase of $1,217. The average grant was $68.22, up 12 cents.

hour chase after Gemini 7 at 8:37 a. m. (EST) Wednesday.

If all goes well, Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford, the Gemini 6 pilots, will ease their space craft nose to nose with Borman and Lovell nearly six hours after blastoff while 185 miles over the Philippine Islands, east of Manila.

The opportunity for a spectacular meeting in space was stalled Sunday when a tail plug on the Gemini 6 launch vehicle prematurely fell from beneath the rocket, forcing a shutdown of the engines at the moment of ignition.

Inspectors discovered Monday, however, that even if the plug had remained intact, a more serious malfunction would have cut off the engines a second later. They found a two-cent plastic dust cover still attached to a fuel line.

Space agency officials termed the failure to remove the dust cover a careless act. They said someone had left it in place when the rocket was assembled at the Martin Co. factory in Baltimore, Md.

EDITORIALS

'Excessively Obstinate'

In Sunday's editorial we placed "opinionated" individuals in the category with hidebound complainers who nit-pick every civic project initiated in Sedalia.

They belong there regardless of the early Monday morning objections we encountered at the coffee counter.

"What do you mean criticizing people for having opinions. You are always upholding freedom of speech and freedom of the press as though you had a personal lease on this privilege. I have a right to my opinion the same as you."

This was the pith of the protests.

We offer no apologies for using the word opinionated. It was used in the context of the editorial urging a posture of positive thinking rather than negative thinking in relation to industrial development and other Sedalia projects.

First off, opinionated, as it was used referred to those who are stiff in their opinions, those who firmly or beyond a proper degree adhere to their own opinions or to preconceived notions.

True, these persons are a minority but how they can raise a clamor.

Now, everyone is entitled to an opinion and to express it as a notion or conviction founded on probable evidence. An opinion is less strong than positive knowledge.

But "opinionated" has the generally accepted suggestive significance of a person being excessively obstinate.

And these were the ducks we were aiming at.

But even these ducks can sound off in letters of reasonable length to the editor if they don't become excessively abusive of personalities, and if they identify themselves by signature and address.

We maintain no monopoly of opinions on any subject. Even the inflexible excessively obstinate individuals may be heard in a few rounds of target practice if they care to participate and really have something constructive to offer for improvements on the local scene.

Debt Is Thrift

Shakespeare's advice in the remarks made by Polonius to his son Laertes — "Neither a borrower nor a lender be" would not work in today's world.

The new concept of debt is that it is a form of thrift. Consumer borrowing is frequently the first form of thrift exercised by young people in our society. The reasoning is that it is mandatory for them to apportion part of their income to pay for personal property they have already acquired. Under the old concept consumers would try to apportion part of their savings to buy personal property. Now a small down-payment will enable a person to buy almost anything.

Credit bureaus base their determinations on the applicant's reputation, past paying habits, and any indication of domestic problems.

In our present expanding economy the risk in borrowing has diminished and the average person with a job and favorable credit rating can obtain various types of loans.

But Polonius's advice is still worth considering.

Fighting Inflation

Maybe it's because of those famous Danish pastries, or perhaps it's just a sign of general prosperity, but a new political party in Denmark thinks it has found an untapped source of plump revenue.

The platform of the Reform party, founded by one Ove Becker, proposes a tax on obesity to replace income and sales taxes. For every two pounds of excess avoirdupois, overweight citizens would be taxed an hour's pay a month.

Chances that the idea will get anywhere. Pretty slim.

No doubt the idea will be accepted if recommended by enough medical groups, and the tag cost is reduced.

I. D.'s for Medic Alert

Identification bracelets for persons with diabetes, epilepsy, glaucoma, myasthenia gravis and multiple sclerosis are being urged by insurance companies, health departments and medical societies. Persons taking anticoagulants or who are allergic to drugs or bee stings; scuba divers and wearers of contact lenses are also suggested for Medic Alert tags. The individual's blood type could well be added to the bracelet.

If a person is aware of the above conditions and should be in an accident or suddenly become unconscious, the Medic Alert tag would help a doctor in providing proper treatment and avoiding possibly dangerous treatment.

These tags are available from the Medic Alert Foundation in Turlock, California and cost $5 or $7.50. Brochures have been sent to doctors, clinics, hospitals and drug stores in a mass attempt to sell the metal identification bracelets to patients. A simple card might serve the purpose but a metal disc worn on a bracelet would be noticed sooner.

Question: Pakistani Friend or Foe?

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — President Johnson today sits down with the son of a bugler in the old Indian Army, who looks more British than any Britisher, is more absolute than General Franco of Spain, who has received over $5 billion of American aid, and who wants more. He is President Mohammad Ayub Khan of Pakistan, picked by the Eisenhower administration to be the main military support of the United States in Asia but who has become an indirect supporter of Red China.

When I was in West Africa last fall, the Chinese were swarming over Africa trying to undercut the Democratic influence of the French and British and take over that vast, relatively empty, very wealthy continent. Reason the Chinese were able to reach Africa was largely because President Ayub Khan had given them an air base in Pakistan. Otherwise they would have had to go through Hong Kong and Singapore, where they would have been stopped by the British, would not have been able to reach Africa at all.

Also, instead of using the tremendous supply of U. S. tanks, artillery, and machine guns which we have poured into Pakistan against our enemies in Southeast Asia, President Ayub Khan has used them against our friend, India.

When Ayub Khan arrived in Washington before, he was given a beautiful candlelight dinner on the lawn at Mount Vernon, home of President George Washington, a man who gave up his sword in a symbolic ceremony to show that civil authority in the United States lay with civilians.

Ayub Khan has never given up the sword. When I was in his country, the manager of the Blue Star Pakistan hotel in Karachi was arrested for playing phonograph records too loud; three bus drivers were arrested for draining oil on the side of the street; while the police searched a merchant's shop without a warrant on the suspicion he had smuggled nylon cloth from India. Generalissimo Franco of Spain would blush at the strong-arm methods used by Ayub Khan in Pakistan.

Lyndon Johnson and Ayub Khan are not unknown to each other. The two met when Lyndon Johnson was Vice President and toured the Middle East. The two men also knew each other when Ayub Khan made a spit-and-polish appearance before a joint session of Congress over which Lyndon presided.

Today the two men sit down together in a much cooler atmosphere. The President of the United States can be very charming or very tough. The chances today are that when Ayub Khan asks for more American aid, the President will be tough.

Ordeal By Castro

The full story has never leaked out, but probably the most bizarre chapter in the life of Anastas Mikoyan, retiring President of the Soviet Union, was how Fidel Castro kept him cooling his heels in Havana.

Mikoyan was sent to Havana immediately following the Cuban missile crisis to get Castro to accept U. N. inspection of Russian missile bases. But though Mikoyan was the second highest ranking official of the powerful Soviet Union, Castro refused to see him. The temperamental dictator of tiny Cuba was seething mad because Khrushchev had bowed to Kennedy and agreed to remove what Castro considered to be "his" missiles.

For 19 days Mikoyan waited in Havana, most of the time unable to see Castro. During the wait Mikoyan's wife died in Moscow, but he stayed on the job. Khrushchev cabled him that relations with the United States were too important for him to come home.

Mikoyan told part of the story to U. S. officials at the United Nations after he returned. And U. S. officials, knowing Castro, knew Mikoyan was telling the truth. This was the chief reason President Kennedy agreed to abandon U. S. inspection of the missile bases and accept inspection of Soviet ships at sea instead.

Another Room At Top for Schlesinger

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. had a room at the top, or near it, as special assistant to President John F. Kennedy. Now he has another room at the top, an office on the third floor of an old three-story building here.

There in 14 months, turning out on his working days 2,000 to 4,000 words a day, he wrote his best-selling, 1,087-page book — "A Thousand Days" — on the Kennedy administration. It has been criticized for revealing too much; it has been highly praised.

For years it probably will remain the best book on the Kennedy days. It is not the final word; he didn't pretend it was. It is not totally objective, far from it. It bulges with adoration of Kennedy. But Schlesinger frankly said in his first sentence the book was a personal memoir.

Schlesinger, 48, is one of the most readable historians this country has produced. His books are full of people moving with events or causing them. In 1945 he won the Pulitzer Prize for his "Age of Jackson." In the 1950s he turned out three superb books on the New Deal.

Now he expects to finish that job over the next 8 to 10 years with three or four more books on the New Deal period. They will be full of people, too. How did he come to write that way? What goes into shaping an historian? Asked those questions in an interview, he gave these answers:

G. A. Henty's romantic histories for boys began his interest in history. The first big influence was his father, Arthur M. Schlesinger Sr., a distinguished historian who recently died at 77. From his father he got the realization of constant change in history and that it was "something more than past politics."

These were some of the other influences, all historians except one.

Francis Parkman (1823-1893) — "I was entranced by his narrative skill." Charles Beard (1874-1948) — "His interpretations stimulated me," although Schlesinger thinks, in general, they were wrong. Henry Adams (1838-1918) — "He had one absolutely indispensable quality for an historian — the gift of irony." And Reinhold Niebuhr, Protestant theologian and writer still alive — Schlesinger found in him the "relationship of the hero in history, the individual against determinism."

Schlesinger disagrees with Leo Tolstoy's view which he described as looking upon "people as leaves blown by the winds of history." His own theory is that the "individual has much more of a role than Tolstoy gave him, and he has choices."

Unlike historians writing of the past, with no one of that era left alive to talk to, Schlesinger, writing of recent history, looks for people who took part in it. He talked to about 100 on New Deal books, about the same number on the Kennedy book.

This was in addition to all the research, which he does himself. He can read a book at the rate of about 125 to 200 pages an hour. But perhaps no other historian alive ever stops for the same kind of refreshment Schlesinger needs. He reads poetry.

"Sometimes in writing I try to get out of the blur of rhetoric to remind myself how words should be used. I stop writing and read poetry, particularly William Butler Yeats." Sometimes he reads Walt Whitman.

Yeats, he says, "has simplicity and gravity and a diction very simple. His words have inevitability and he has rhythm." He says "Yeats stimulates one's sense of precision in language. Whitman stimulates the imagination."

Q's and A's On Tax Matters

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — My boss told me that if I knew how to take dictation I'd be promoted to secretary. If I took a night course in shorthand would the cost be tax deductible?

A — No, it wouldn't in your case. Educational expenses incurred primarily to get a better job do not qualify. Expenses incurred for an educational course expressly required by your employer to keep your present job are deductible.

Q — My neighbor has asked me to take care of her little girl in my home for her while she is at work. If I agree to do this will the money she pays me be taxable?

A — Yes. If your net income from this source totals $400 or more during the year, you must file a return and pay self-employment tax even though you are not otherwise required to file an income tax return.

The self-employment tax will enable you to build up Social Security retirement benefits. Details on the self-employment tax are described in IRS Document No. 5047. You may obtain a copy free at your local Internal Revenue Service office.

Hardening of Arteries? Try Sensible Living

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q — What are the early symptoms of arteriosclerosis? What can be done to arrest its development?

A — Unfortunately, hardening of the arteries causes no symptoms until the vessels become almost completely choked off. This is a late manifestation of a disease that begins in 50 per cent of the population when they are in their early 20s. When the symptoms depend on the location of the blocked arteries. In a coronary artery you would have attacks of a vise-like pain in the region of the heart (angina pectoris); in the brain, a stroke; and in the legs, pain on walking (intermittent claudication).

Sometimes your doctor can detect arteriosclerosis before any of these vascular accidents occur in your feet, seeing their outline in an X-ray film (usually one taken for another reason), or seeing characteristic changes in the interior of your eyes.

Prevention is now thought to depend less on cutting out high-cholesterol fats than on reducing your total caloric intake and keeping your weight at the lower limit of normal, cutting out cigarettes and, with your doctor's help, keeping your blood pressure, especially the lower (diastolic) reading, within normal limits and learning the fine art of equanimity.

Q — Two of my cousins had their spleens removed. How do they manage to get along without this organ? What are the chances of living more than five years after such an operation?

A — The chief function of the spleen is the destruction of worn-out red blood cells but in man the spleen is not essential for this purpose. In the absence of the spleen, its function is taken over by the lining of the blood vessels.

The outlook for a person whose spleen has been removed is generally very good. It depends on what condition the operation was performed for. In most cases the operation prolongs, rather than shortens, life.

Polly's Pointers®

She Defends Borrowing

By Polly Cramer
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY — I was more than a little disappointed by the letters on borrowing that appeared in the column. I take a different view. When families are so independent and do not seem to require anything from anyone but themselves, I think they lose something called the "human touch." I believe lending small items is part of being a good neighbor and we nip opportunities in the bud when we are so selfish. It will not break anyone to loan one egg, a cup of sugar or a few slices of bread. If it does we are in a pretty bad way.

One of my good neighbors and I had an agreement not to keep a record as we believe things even out in the end. The only exception was with bigger things like a quart of milk or a loaf of bread. We repaid these with actual items or money. It is petty and trivial to expect small things to be returned.

I have been helped many times by kind and generous neighbors and could not be so selfish as to pretend to be out of everything. More than borrowing, I resent uninvited neighbors who come early in the morning and stay until lunchtime chatting about the same old things. — ROSE

DEAR READERS — I am sure all agree with Rose about helping others and we all want to be good neighbors, but as she, too, points out lending big things can be a terrific drain on a limited household budget.

"Annoyed," who first wrote deploring borrowing, certainly was justified as her new cocktail dress was returned minus a button that could not be matched and with no apology from the borrower. When it is necessary to borrow, it should be just as necessary to return. — POLLY

Bibi Takes To Western Film Role

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's a long distance from the explicit dramas of Sweden to an American Western. Bibi Andersson has made the transition with what appears to be highly satisfactory results.

Bibi is the striking blonde who achieved fame as leading lady in Ingmar Bergman films, some of which have run afoul of American censors. Producer-director Ralph Nelson admired her work and cast her with James Garner and Sidney Poitier in "Duel at Diablo," which was made entirely on location near Kanab, Utah.

Westerns have progress beyond the era when the cowboy star kissed only his horse.

"Four men try to tear my clothes off in one scene," reported Bibi. "But of course this is a Western, and the hero rescues me before they can succeed."

I asked if a European version was filmed, in which the hero arrived late. No, she said, expressing interest in the practice of some American producers to franker or nuder versions for the overseas trade.

"We do the same thing in Sweden," she said. "For the version here, the girl wears pants and a bra."

Bibi Andersson seems capable of playing both sides of the ocean. Her English is flawless. She admitted enjoying the location, grueling though it may have seemed.

"For the first eight weeks the sun shone," she said. "Since I am from Sweden, that's all I needed to keep me happy. Later it rained, and I was not so happy. But I managed to keep my spirits up."

Even on a rugged location, filming in America is easier than in Sweden, she said.

"In Sweden we have no standards," she commented. "The actors have to stand under the hot lights until the scene is ready, and that is very tiring."

"My stand-in on 'Duel at Diablo' was so good she was doing half my part. She is an excellent rider, and she performed the action scenes. I got worried that she would take the part away from me."

Epworth Guild Gives Program, Holiday Party

A Christmas program and party were held by Wesleyan Service Guild, Epworth Methodist Church Dec. 5 at the home of Mrs. Mary Kay Hunter, 624 East 14th.

After prayer, by Mrs. Bernice McGee, a program was given by Mrs. E. L. Ringe and Mrs. Cecil Glenn. Program theme was, "Symbols in Christmas Art." Scriptures from Isaiah and Matthew were read by Mrs. Glenn. Mrs. Zelma Stultz played carols at the organ. Gift exchange was held and a mission offering received.

The organization's 25th anniversary will be observed Jan. 11 at Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. Hunter was assisted in serving refreshments by her daughters, Misses Chris and Lisa Hunter.

Violence in Transition

Some Dislike Lack of Order In the New Santo Domingo

By ROBERT BERRELEZ
SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — "In Trujillo's time," the man said, "the streets were immaculately clean, the grass trimmed, the trees pruned."

He nodded toward the seaside walk, littered with scraps of paper and fruit peels. Piles of loose sand hugged the curb. Dead leaves drooped from the palm trees.

"There was also law and order," he snapped, looking sternly at two jaywalkers.

Santo Domingo isn't a very clean or orderly city and hasn't been since dictator Rafael Leonidas Trujillo was slain in May 1961. The jails are less jammed, however, and free speech is a way of life, not a possible prelude to political exile or a prison term.

Still, many people, especially the older ones in this country of young folks, like to look back with a sort of knowing, I-told-you-so air.

The transition from 31 years of Trujillo dictatorship to representative democracy has been rocked by continued violence. One would have to look close today, though, to find the signs of last April's revolution, one of the most explosive in Latin-American history. Emotional scars are fading faster than most foreigners here thought possible.

The other evening Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, amiable chief of the rebel army, sat with friends in a popular restaurant. The place was crowded with people from the other side of the political fence. Some waved at Caamano. He smiled, waved back. Six months ago the two groups likely would have been shooting at each other.

Physical scars are disappearing in a flurry of construction and repair projects that have helped thin the ranks of unemployed. Even surprised Dominicans are asking: Where's the money coming from?

The United States has put more than $80 million into a major rehabilitation effort. More is on the way. The 9,000-plus foreign troops stationed in the country are spending at least some of their salaries here.

Scores of privately financed low-cost homes are going up on state land in the city. With an emergency grant of $2 million from the Alliance for Progress and $924,000 from the Organization of American States, the government is completing an aqueduct to end a chronic water shortage.

The most dramatic infusion of American help has come through the distribution of U.S. surplus foods. Catholic relief services, Church World Services and CARE gave away 63 million pounds — about 18 pounds per Dominican — of cornmeal, flour, powdered milk, cooking oil and oatmeal in the period between the start of the revolution, April 24, and Aug. 31. Food distribution is being stepped up with the emphasis on children of school and preschool age.

Gambling casinos and most night clubs have reopened. Even hope has gotten a boost with the reopening of the national lottery.

Anti-Yankee fervor is on the wane, but not because Dominicans feel different about the American armed presence here. "It isn't that we don't like Americans; we do," says Bonaparte Geatreux, 31, a young businessman. "It's just that we don't want foreign troops on our soil."

Framed against this background is an ugly little nocturnal "war" between diehards of factions involved in the revolution.

The tempo is dying down but occasionally the night silence is broken by a grenade or machine-gun fire.

Lights burn late in the homes of some right-wing extremist political figures known, says President Hector Garcia Godoy, to be conspiring against the government. Among them are those who measure peace and progress mostly in terms of clean streets and pruned trees, a la Trujillo.

midas Trujillo was slain in May 1961. The jails are less jammed, however, and free speech is a way of life, not a possible prelude to political exile or a prison term.

Still, many people, especially the older ones in this country of young folks, like to look back with a sort of knowing, I-told-you-so air.

The transition from 31 years of Trujillo dictatorship to representative democracy has been rocked by continued violence. One would have to look close today, though, to find the signs of last April's revolution, one of the most explosive in Latin-American history. Emotional scars are fading faster than most foreigners here thought possible.

The other evening Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, amiable chief of the rebel army, sat with friends in a popular restaurant. The place was crowded with people from the other side of the political fence. Some waved at Caamano. He smiled, waved back. Six months ago the two groups likely would have been shooting at each other.

EMPTY GRAVES—The scene of a century-old bloody battle is marked by 20 white tombstones over empty graves in a lonely cemetery near Casper, Wyo. The memorial marks the spot where Indians wiped out an Army wagon train July 26, 1865. The 20 dead, all from the 11th Kansas Cavalry, are believed buried in a common grave in the area, but it has never been located. American Legionnaires from Casper have taken on the task of maintaining the cemetery and decorating the markers with flags on Memorial Day and the Fourth of July.

Tuesday's Cage Slate

S-C Travels To Boonville While Gremlins Are Idle

One of Sedalia's two high school basketball teams, the Sacred Heart Gremlins, will be idle this Tuesday while the Smith-Cotton Tigers will travel to Boonville for non-league action.

Last Friday's results indicated both Sedalia teams suffer from the same malady and felt similar results—a defeat. Sacred Heart went down to Sweet Springs, 61-58, while Kansas City Manual beat S-C's Tigers 47-40.

Since both local clubs met highly rated opponents, tension could well have been a contributing factor to their losses. The defeats left Smith-Cotton with a 3-2 record, while the Grems now stand 5-7.

Besides the S-C game Tuesday, other clubs slated to play include:

Smithton at Sweet Springs. The game may hold some surprises for the Sweet Springs Greyhounds in their fourth invasion of PBCAA territory. Smithton almost stopped the Warsaw Wildcats cold last Friday, and the Cats were able to salvage a 58-52 victory only after trailing for three quarters in the game. Sweet Springs defeated Sacred Heart for the second time Friday, 61-58.

Collins at Warsaw. The Wildcats, after almost losing face before Smithton, can be counted on to redouble their efforts, beginning this Tuesday. Warsaw, though leading league schools in over-all results, is low in the conference standings with a 1-1 record.

Stover at Lincoln. The Lincoln Cardinals, once again spearheaded by Duane Brandsgaard's sharp shooting, ousted Green Ridge last Friday while Stover won over Versailles. Stover's top man in the game was Ed Eddings with 15, while Brandsgaard bombed the nets with 24. Brandsgaard's performance Tuesday will have a strong bearing on the outcome of the game.

Cole Camp at Windsor. In spite of the fact that Dave Sublett unleashed 39 points for Cole Camp last Friday, the Bluebirds were still knocked out of a first place tie with Northwest in the PBCAA. The loss may put a double edge on Cole Camp's attack this Tuesday. The game should be close since both teams have proven their strength this season. Windsor's most recent outing ended with a 61-55 victory over El Dorado Springs.

PBCAA schools idle on Tuesday are Sacred Heart, Green Ridge, Northwest and LaMonte. Most teams in the league will see action Friday. The real core of the conference race, however, won't get underway until after the Christmas holidays.

The schedule for area schools follows:

TUESDAY

Smith-Cotton at Boonville

Hard-Hitting Variety On Wrestling Card Tonight

Hard-hitting variety will be the theme on tonight's heavy-weight ring program at Convention Hall. In addition to wrestling, there'll also be boxing. Unusual in the fact Richard Moody, normally a mat referee, will one of the principals in the scheduled 10-round bout.

The main wrestling joust will be a six-man battle royal with the participants struggling for a $300 purse. Involved will be the Viking, Bob Brown, Victor Rivera, Thor Hagen, Bobby Shane and Chris Belkas.

Each contestant will post $50 as an entry fee, with the winner to take it all. Once a participant is thrown over the rope he will be eliminated.

Because of the punishing pace demanded by the royal, the event generally is dominated by those heavyweights who rely more on power than skill and speed. With that the case, favorites include the rowdy Viking

Amateur Radio Club To Sponsor Radio Code, Theory Class

The Amateur Radio Club of Central Missouri will conduct a radio code and theory class beginning in January, 1967.

The class is open to all adults and young people who desire to learn the International Morse code and basic radio theory. At the end of the eight-week period, the participants will be qualified to pass the FCC Novice examination and establish their own amateur radio stations.

The class sessions will be about 1½ hours long one evening each week. The exact location and dates have not been announced.

The class will also involve at least two or three hours of homework, practice and study each week. A limit of 25 enrollees has been established.

Interested persons should contact the club's president Al Beale, TA-6-3441.

S-C Loses 2 Games To Marshall Owls

Smith-Cotton's eighth grade and freshman basketball teams lost their games to the Marshall Owls Monday. The eighth graders lost 26-23 while the freshman went down 63-31.

Top gun for Smith-Cotton in the freshman game was Alan Browder with 20 points, while Tom Mason was high for Marshall with 20. In the other game, Bobby Williams' 13 points paced the Bengals' attack and Jim Waffling led Marshall with 12.

The S-C freshmen meet Warrensburg Thursday.

Bradley's Picture Is On Tickets

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bill Bradley's smiling face still greets Princeton fans everytime they go to watch their beloved Tigers play. The only thing is once they get past the ticket taker, there's no more Bradley and it certainly makes a difference. Just ask Rutgers.

Bradley, of course, is the two-time All-America and Player of the Year who led the Cinderella Ivy League representatives into the semifinals of the National Collegiate playoffs last season.

The big guy was a senior though and, like all good things, his career came to an end. But Princeton, being somewhat sentimental, kept his picture plastered on tickets for this season's games. It's a pleasant reminder of things past.

Things past now include a 13-year winning streak against arch-rival Rutgers which ended Monday night when the Scarlet sprung a 68-66 upset.

It was the biggest surprise on a strange night that had such odd goings-on as an Arkansas player, averaging just eight points per game, breaking a 25-year-old scoring record as the Porks whipped Centenary 90-61, and a Canisius guard outscoring the entire Western Ontario squad as the Golden Griffins won 109-33.

Bob Lloyd, a 6-foot-1 junior, was the chief architect of Rutgers' shocker against Princeton. He scored 30 points and engineered the late-game slowdown that held the Tigers off. Princeton combated the semi-freeze with a full-court press and Lloyd converted four foul shots in the final four minutes that proved decisive.

Ricky Sugg, off to a slow start in Arkansas' first three games and averaging just eight points per game, ran wild against Centenary, scoring 41 points and smashing a 25-year-old school record.

Sugg, who led the Porks with a 16.5 average last season, hit on 11 of 12 shots in the first half, almost all of them from the outside. He was perfect from the foul line with 13 for 13.

John Morrison played only 18 minutes for Canisius but scored 34 points — one more than the entire Western Ontario squad managed in 40 minutes against the Golden Griffins.

While things were out of kilter elsewhere, Vanderbilt's Clyde Lee and Boston College's John Austin performed routinely. Lee, who's 6-9½, scored 32 points and pulled down 20 rebounds leading fourth-ranked Vanderbilt through a 102-82 romp against Wake Forest.

Austin, a flashy 6-footer considered by many to be the best small man in the East, scored 27 points on 11 for 17 from the floor and 5-for-5 from the free throw line as Boston College ripped St. Mary's of California 95-72.

CMS Mules Upset By Cape 81-75

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cape Girardeau Indians upset the Warrensburg Mules 81-75 Monday night at Cape despite the 35-point shooting of Warrensburg's Silvester Mitchell.

The game left both teams with 1-1 marks in the MIAA basketball standings.

In another MIAA game, the Springfield Bears beat the Rolla Miners 89-81 at Rolla, while the Kirksville Bulldogs dropped a 74-69 nonconference decision at Parsons, Iowa.

Out-of-state teams were unanimous in defeating Missouri schools. Pittsburgh State knocked off Southwest Baptist 85-74; Eastern Illinois whipped Washington University 76-67; Augustana of South Dakota defeated Lincoln 85-75, and John Brown University downed Drury 79-69.

In the game at Cape, Warrensburg held the lead six times and Cape five times, and the score was tied three times. Mitchell got his 35 points on 13 field goals and nine free throws. Cape's high shooters were Kermit Meystedt with 23 and Curtis Williams with 21.

Dan Bolden hit 31 points for Springfield, including 11 straight that helped the Bears come from eight points behind in the last half. Wayne Lewis and Rich Cairns each had 16 for the Miners.

Kirksville had a 13-point lead at halftime, but Bill Atkins hit 22 points from the outside for Parsons in the second half to hand the Bulldogs their sixth straight defeat. Three of the Kirksville starters fouled out.

Tonight's games include: Washburn at Maryville State, Park at Central Methodist, Culver-Stockton at Eureka, Ill.

MU Ousts Rice 96-87

Missouri, K-State Both Win On Monday

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas State and Missouri broke into the winning column in a big way Monday night, swamping Indiana and Rice, respectively.

Kansas State, voted as one of the top teams in the nation in pre-season polls, finally looked the part as it jumped out in front in the second minute of play and crushed the Hoosiers 103-76 in Bloomington. It was the first Wildcat victory in five games.

Missouri, with Ron Coleman scoring 34 points and setting a school record by going 14-for-14 from the free throw line, topped invading Rice 96-87. The Tigers had lost three straight.

In other games Monday, Iowa State easily disposed of State College of Iowa 73-54 and Oklahoma State bowed to Texas 56-51.

Tonight, Cincinnati at Colorado, Texas moves to Nebraska and Oklahoma is at Texas Tech. Nick Pino, Kansas State's 7-foot-1 center, led the Wildcats with 27 points and 23 rebounds, his best efforts so far. Pino connected on 11 of 17 from the field and hit 5 of 7 free throws.

Galen Frick also had a hot hand for Coach Tex Winter's crew, sinking 7 of 8 from the field and 4 of 5 from the charity stripe.

Coleman's record-breaking performance gave Missouri its first victory of the season, stopping winless Rice. He sank 10 field goals, and his 14-for-14 at the foul line broke the old Tiger mark of 10-for-10 set by Gene Landolt in 1951.

Charlie Rudd added 21 points for Missouri.

Seven Rice players were whistled to the bench on fouls, including all five starters. Two Missouri players also fouled out. Iowa State romped over State College of Iowa as Bob Ziegler, Don Smith, Paul Duarte and Al Koch all hit in double figures.

Smith paced the Cyclones with 18. Ziegler had 15, Duarte 14 and Koch 11.

Oklahoma State had a seven-point lead with 6:20 left in the first half, but went into a five-minute scoring blank which gave Texas the upper hand. The Longhorns held a 24-23 edge at halftime and never fell behind again.

Larry Lake of Texas and Keith Branch of OSU shared high-point honors with 12 apiece.

mate Lance Alworth is the No. 2 receiver behind Denver's Lionel Taylor. Taylor has 80 receptions to Alworth's 64 but the San Diego flash has gained 365 more yards on his catches and tops the league with 13 touchdowns.

Scoring Battle Rages In League

By Pete Daniels

The Northwest Mustangs and Warsaw Wildcats may have to battle it out for the PBCAA Conference championship this season, but some basketball fans in the area are keeping an eye on another race within the league.

Some of the eight teams making up the PBCAA won't get into the thick of conference action until after the Christmas holidays. The Sacred Heart Gremlins, for example, have yet to play their first conference game. The others have played at least one game, while Northwest and Cole Camp are veterans of three each.

Of the last two schools, the Mustangs are kings of the conference mountain with a 3-0 record. However, attention is beginning to focus on a third school in the league — the LaMonte Vikings.

LaMonte's performance, unofficially, hasn't been overly impressive this season. However, Garry Gill, a letterman returning from last year, is beginning to pose a threat to Northwest's Garry Brownfield, who, again unofficially, leads the league with a 33.8 points per game average.

This average, and others to follow, is based on the last six games each team has played, and were compiled by The Democrat-Capital sports department.

In the individual scoring category, Gill ranges right behind Brownfield with a 29.1 average. In his last two outings, Gill has hit for 33 and 22 points, while Brownfield came through with 33 and 41.

That last score came in a conference game against the Cole Camp Bluebirds — a game which knocked Cole Camp out of a first place tie with Northwest in the league.

Another potential threat, though he's tied with about four others, is Duane Brandsgaard from Lincoln. Brandsgaard, at 6-6, is about the tallest man in the conference. He had a 15 points per game average last season, and thus far this season the unofficial figures give him 21 points a game.

That average doesn't include the 48 points he scored against the Sacred Heart Gremlins for third place in the PBCAA Conference Tournament at Cole Camp recently. The Gremlins, in that game, had the dubious honor of watching Brandsgaard break every individual scoring record not only for his own school but also for the PBCAA for a single game. He hit 21 field goals and six free throws for that total.

Other top scorers in the PBCAA, based on their last six performances, are: Sacred Heart—Mike Maple, 14.3; Ron Kruse, 20.5; Bob Scherer, 11.5; LaMonte — Garry Gill, 29.1; Green Ridge — Jim Dove, 6; Warsaw — Bob Barnes, 21; Northwest — Garry Brownfield, 33.8; Lincoln — Duane Brandsgaard, 21; Smithton — Mike Turner, 12; Dave Grube, 11; Cole Camp — Dave Sublett, 21; John Linville, 21. All averages are unofficial.

Green Bay Can Make Race Simple

NEW YORK (AP) — It takes a math major to figure out all the permutations and combinations in the National Football League's Western race but Green Bay can make it simple by winning Sunday at San Francisco.

Baltimore also can win it outright if it can beat or tie Los Angeles Saturday and Green Bay loses on Sunday.

The only chance for Chicago to get into a tie situation is for the top two teams to lose.

Here are the tie possibilities:

(A) Green Bay loses 10-4
Chicago wins 10-4
Baltimore loses
(B) Green Bay ties 10-3-1
Baltimore wins 10-3-1

The championship game will be played in the home park of the Western champion Jan. 2 with the Cleveland Browns as the visitors and defending champions.

The tight second-place races in both conferences heightened interest in the Playoff Bowl at Miami, Jan. 9. Each player on a winning team in the Miami game gets $1,200 and each loser $500. In addition, each second-place team member will get about $1,000 as his cut of the championship game.

The New York Giants-Dallas game Sunday at Yankee Stadium will decide the Eastern second-place team. The Giants, leading by a game, can assure themselves of a trip to the Orange Bowl by beating or tying the Cowboys. If Dallas whips the Giants, the Cowboys will go on the strength of two victories over New York.

In the West, either Baltimore or Green Bay is the likely runner-up. Chicago could get in if it ties with either team because the Bears never have played in the Miami game.

The American Football League will have a replay of the 1964 title game with Buffalo defending against San Diego. However, this time they will play at San Diego and the Chargers will have Lance Alworth in the line-up. Buffalo is the crippled team with its top receivers banged up but the meeting of Jack Kemp and John Hadl should provide top-flight football.

Victory, Loss For S-C B Teams Monday

Two of Smith-Cotton's B teams split games with the Northwest Mustangs at Northwest Monday night. In the freshman B game, Sedalia won, 28-24 with Orion Gay scoring 12 points for S-C, while Bob Bratton was high for the losers with ten.

The eighth grade B game saw Smith-Cotton lose, 28-25, with Donnie Paxton and Dickie Towler pacing the locals with eight points each, while Northwest was led by Alex Cossell's 13.

Time Limit Is Out Says Arnold Palmer

NEW YORK (AP) — A gold-plated panel of professional golfers, headed by millionaire Arnold Palmer, agreed today they don't want a stop watch put on them while they play their delicate trade.

"It would be ridiculous to put a time limit on the time a fellow can take to make a shot," said Palmer. "It would make a travesty of the game."

Palmer and other members of golf's 1965 All-America discussed tournament golf's major headache — a tendency toward snail's-pace play — at a press conference prior to a dinner honoring the top shot makers picked by Golf Magazine.

With Palmer, cited for long irons, were Tony Lema, short irons; Dave Marr, pitching wedge; Sam Snead, sand wedge, and Billy Casper, putter. Jack Nicklaus, named the best driver for the second straight year, missed the session but attended the dinner. Gene Littler, middle irons, was grounded on the West Coast and Gary Player, fairway woods, was unable to make the trip from his home in Johannesburg, South Africa.

The group as a whole praised the new U.S. Golf Association rule which demands removal of the flagstick only when the ball is on the green but dissented from two experimental local option measures dealing with action on the green.

One of the rules limits the marking of the ball to one time. Another demands that a player continue to putt out without marking the ball unless he stands in the line of his opponent's putt.

"The pros would never go for those rules," said Marr, the PGA champion. "For instance, in the Bing Crosby tournament at Pebble Beach sand can blow against the ball between putts. No one should putt with sand against the ball."

Lema, the former British Open champion, said he believed increased slow play could be attributed to the bigger purses.

"In one tournament last year (Carling's World, which he won), I had $18,000 riding on the last two holes," Lema said. "Nobody's going to tell me I have to speed up with that kind of money staring me in the face."

"You don't waste or save time on the greens," insisted Palmer. "Only a few seconds are required to mark the ball. The time is taken up somewhere else."

"I think we need more officials on the course to make instantaneous rules decisions and prod players who are dawdling."

McDowell Wins ERA Honors

BOSTON (AP) — Fireballing left-hander Sam McDowell of the Cleveland Indians won the American League earned run title in 1965, the official averages disclosed today.

McDowell, had a 2.18 ERA. The 23-year-old hurler yielded 66 earned runs in 273 innings while posting a 17-11 won-lost record. McDowell also paced the circuit in strikeouts with 325, bases on balls, 132, and wild pitches, 17.

Eddie Fisher of the Chicago White Sox, a right-handed reliever, was second in the earned run competition with a 2.40 mark. He was followed by Sonny Siebert of Cleveland 2.43, George Brunet of the California Angels 2.56, Pete Richert of Washington 2.60 and Milt Pappas, Baltimore, 2.61.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant of the pennant-winning Minnesota Twins topped the circuit's pitchers in winning percentage with .750 on a 21-7 record. He also led in victories and shutouts, the latter department with six.

The veteran right-hander and New York's Mel Stottlemyre were the only AL moundsmen to win 20 or more games. In addition, Stottlemyre, who had a 20-9 record, worked the most innings, 291, and pitched the most complete games, 18.

Washington Capsules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lights will shine longer at the White House this week and next.

The reason is the Christmas season.

Two white-lighted trees flank the north portico, and an 18-foot fire has been set up in the Blue Room.

The inside tree is decorated with 960 tiny lights plus popcorn and cranberry chains, gingerbread cookies, teddy bears, toy drums, straw stars and other ornaments.

The doorways have been hung with mistletoe, mantels are banked with holly and greens and a wreath hangs over the front door.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has given $1,500 annual raises to his 10 special assistants.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers says the increase went into effect recently and raised all 10 from $28,500 to $30,000 a year.

Under the law, $30,000 is the maximum for a presidential assistant. The law provides for 14 such jobs, but Johnson has four vacancies.

WASHINGTON (AP)—American Nazi party leader George Lincoln Rockwell has asked the U.S. District Court to prevent the auction of party property to pay federal taxes.

The Internal Revenue Service padlocked the rented party headquarters in nearby Arlington, Va., earlier this month, and seized office equipment, claiming tax liens totaling $5,278. The equipment auction tentatively has been scheduled for Dec. 26.

Rockwell contends the party should be tax exempt, but the IRS says it is a business corporation and thus liable for taxes.

Capital Footnotes
The Pentagon is planning a $60-million office building at nearby Bolling Air Force Base. It would house 10,000 persons who now work at scattered locations. Evangelist Billy Graham has made his fifth Christmas season appearance before Pentagon workers. He spoke to them Monday in a midday service. William Gorham has been sworn in as assistant secretary of health, education and welfare for program coordination.

Search by four Japanese vessels nearby failed to locate the ship or any life raft, an agency spokesman said. Two Japanese patrol ships were sent to join in the search.

Coach Reviews Plans To Stop Alabama Drive

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—"We'll try to mix up everything. We'll work on our agility and try to increase our defensive pressure and containment," Nebraska defensive football line Coach George Kelly said Monday. He reviewed plans to stop Alabama's star passer, Steve Sloan.

Alabama plays unbeaten Nebraska in the Orange Bowl at Miami New Year's night.

Nebraska head Coach Bob Devaney and his assistants make no bones about the fact that if Nebraska can't do at least a reasonable job of stopping Sloan the Huskers could be slaughtered.

Sloan is a rollout thrower who hit 97 of 160 passes this fall and had a total of 1,499 yards.

Kelly said Nebraska hopes to keep Sloan bottled up in the sworn in as assistant secretary of health, education and welfare for program coordination.

Boyle's Mail Again Full Of Material

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Paleface, beware: The U.S. Indian population has risen from 240,000 in 1900 to more than 525,000. Their birthrate is nearly double that of the rest of the country—22.4 per 100,000. At this rate the Indians may take over America again—in 1,000 years.

If science were able to build a machine to duplicate the functioning of a housewife's three-pound human brain, it would be about the size of the Empire State Building—and require as much power as Niagara Falls produces to operate it. My, isn't that flattering.

Nurses had it tougher in the previous century. In addition to washing patients, they were also expected to wash the hospital windows at least once a week.

U.S. universities graduated 4,314 Ph.Ds in the sciences in 1951 and turned out 7,597 last year.

College no longer can be described as a four-year loaf on father's dough. Studies show that 65 per cent of American college men work to pay at least part of their educational expenses.

Safety hint: There is no doubt that it is more dangerous to drive on Saturday and Sunday. Insurance statistics in 1964 disclosed that almost half of all traffic disasters occurred on weekends.

If a truck driver approaching you holds up his fingers in the old V-for-victory signal, you'd better brake your speed. That's his friendly way of letting you know police are up ahead.

A new camera for missile tests has been developed that is so sensitive it can pick up the flight of a baseball batted 15 miles away.

Quips from our contemporaries: Definition of a consultant: "A man who borrows your watch and tells you what time it is"—Catholic Digest.

The name Potomac for the river which flows past the nation's capital, comes from an Algonquin Indian term meaning "trading place"—a bit of history which politicians who still trade votes there probably never knew.

History lesson: Can you name who first started the custom of lighting Christmas trees? He was Martin Luther, 16th century German religious reformer.

It was Josh Billings who observed, "The trouble with most folks isn't so much their ignorance, as knowing so many things that ain't so."

News In Brief

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Students representing 17 Tennessee colleges and universities have presented Gov. Frank G. Clement petitions supporting U.S. policy in Viet Nam. The students asked Clement to forward the petitions to President Johnson.

BOSTON (AP) — John E. Frenon of Lawrence, former presiding judge of the Massachusetts Land Court, has been installed as the fifth president of Suffolk University. He is a 1920 graduate of Holy Cross and received a law degree from Suffolk.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A helicopter which takes Santa Claus to shopping centers would have been unable to make its flight last weekend because of poor visibility.

Several hundred children were waiting at a shopping center across town from the Municipal Airport. So the Federal Aviation Agency came to their aid by using radar to guide the helicopter to its destination.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Rhode Island College has dedicated a $692,000 dormitory to the memory of the late Miss Mary A. Weber, a member of the school's faculty for 28 years. Miss Weber, who died last April, made an unrestricted bequest in her will to the college of $125,000, the largest ever received by the institution.

Young Beats Rebelling In Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—After 20 years of communism, Yugoslavia is making the painful discovery that it has a generation of beatniks on its hands.

Stealing cars for thrills — and often smashing them up for extra kicks — has become a fad among Yugoslavia's swinging youth.

Beatle hairdos are the rage. Youngsters fill the night clubs. They snap up the latest record imports from the West, couldn't care less about socialist preachings, and generally carry on like young people revolting against the establishment.

Parents despair, newspapers denounce and legislators make tougher laws. Despite everything, Yugoslavia's youngsters insist on going their own way.

Imitation by Yugoslav youth of their Western counterparts began several years ago when Britain's Teddy boys were much imitated here.

As prosperity increased and Yugoslavia moved ever further away from the strict conduct of conventional communism, the youthful trend toward independence spread.

The country has never seen anything, however, like the car theft fad. Hundreds have been stolen in recent months by youngsters who take them for joy rides, abandon them after a day or so or smash them into trees.

Thrill thefts have become so numerous that the Belgrade Politika Ekspres has started a free column of missing-car announcements for unlucky owners trying to trace their stolen machines.

What astonishes older people is that many of the teen-agers involved are the children of company directors, officials and other well-to-do citizens.
